What does our new Juli Plant Grainger Animal Care Center look like inside? Pretty cool!

The new center will allow us to integrate veterinary care with research studies to help our animals and those in the wild. We can also provide formal training opportunities for emerging new veterinarians from around the world to expand the field of conservation medicine.

View the spring 2019 issue of Shorelines online at MontereyBayAquarium.org/Shorelines for a peek inside the center and a conversation with Dr. Mike Murray, our director of veterinary services, on its potential.
